FOOTBALL STARS OF FORMER DAYS AT WESTMINSTER

The mild-looking gentleman with the ferocious moustache in the upper right-hand corner of the picture on the opposite page is the Reverend Doctor Luther Peacock, A A (Westminster) '98.

Peacock spent four years at Westminster, being graduated with the class of 1898. While in school he played football with the teams of '94, '95 and '96. Football had just been instituted as an intercollegiate sport in the United Presbyterian college. Brother Peacock played left halfback and in the fall of 1897 was captain of the team.

After leaving Westminster, he entered the Allegheny Seminary in Pittsburgh. For three years he was pastor of a United Presbyterian church in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. While there, he was called to the First United Presbyterian Church of Sharon, Pennsylvania. During the eight years of his pastorate of this church, it grew from a membership of 180 to 900. The Sunday School increased from 180 to 1250. A new church building was erected during this period.

In 1911 he resigned this charge to go into evangelistic work with Billy Sunday. For three years he was first assistant to Mr. Sunday in his greatest evangelistic campaigns. At the end of three years, he resigned from the Sunday party and formed an evangelistic party of his own, holding tabernacle meetings in many important towns and cities.

He gave up this work in 1932, accepting a call to the United Presbyterian church of Fall River, Massachusetts, and at present he is pastor of this flourishing congregation.

Dr. Peacock's interest in Westminster has always been great. For a number of years he was a member of the Board of Trustees of the college. Several years since, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by his Alma Mater. He was Moderator of the First Synod of the West, and has served on several important committees in connection with Westminster College. He has served as president of the Alumni Association, and was chairman of the committee that formed the Association of Athletics, composed of students, faculty, board, and alumni.

Adelphos Peacock is one of Westminster's best friends, and his interest in Lambda Alpha chapter as well as the national fraternity is boundless.

The other oldtimers of football pictured in the frontispiece have equally interesting histories.

Dr. J. C. Hanley, a star of the '95 and '96 seasons, is now president of Sayre College in Kentucky.

M. M. Edmundson, of Pittsburgh, was one of the outstanding football stars of all time at Westminster. Following his graduation, Edmundson returned to Westminster as head coach in 1902 and 1903. He has been president of the Athletic Council and a member of the Council. He is now a prominent attorney of Pittsburgh.

Dr. William Cleland, captain of the 1904 team, was a star tackle. Dr. Cleland, who now lives in New Castle, Pennsylvania, is a member of the Alumni Athletic Council and a close follower of all Westminster sports.

ANOTHER GILL ON THE CALIFORNIA TEAM

Carol Gill is the latest of the famous Gill family to enter the University of California. There is, however, one of the family left who plans to come to the university in years to come, he being in grammar school at the present time.

"Pinky's" first year of varsity football did not start out with the usual gusto that the rest of the Gills displayed, and at the end of last year's season he was rated only about fourth-or fifth-string end on the team. After starting this year in the same position, he worked up until he is now the starting end at all of the major games, and most of the minor games also. Gill earned his numerals in his freshman year, and his letter last year. Following this, his junior year, he will have become a two-letter man, and if his prowess at end remains, he will be, as the other brothers of this family have, a three-timer.

CAROL GILL

Gill's biggest success came on Saturday October 27, when he was picked by his teammates to captain them in the California-Washington game at Seattle.

Harry, "Pinkey's" older brother, who was chosen as all-coast guard four years ago, is now playing professional football in the Pacific Coast Professional Conference, playing guard for the California Giants.

All of the Gill brothers were at one time active members in the house, and "Pinky" is at present a pledge.

THREE T. U. O. FOOTBALL MEN AT WORCESTER

This year we find three T. U. O.'s giving their best to put Worcester's football team again on the sport pages. These men are Floyd "Mother" Hibbard, Harold "Red" Johnson, and Henry "Hank" Dearborn. Of this group Floyd is a senior while both "Red" and "Hank" have two more years to go.

"Red" and Floyd have dominated the end positions all season, but when it has become necessary to call on reserves, "Hank" has often been the one to go to the relief of a fraternity brother. Not one of these ends, however, has been held down to that one position; for Floyd has been called on for duty as a center, "Hank" has filled in at either tackle or guard, and "Red" has been doing practically all of the punting.

With the new open type of football, the ends are becoming more and more important, and we can certainly say that the ends at Tech have fitted into their new duties in great style. In one of the best plays developed this season Hibbard plays a very important part. It is essentially a forward followed by a lateral, and the precision which Floyd possesses in throwing the lateral makes it a real threat. It was good enough to win the game at Norwich.

Johnson has done some great punting all season. He gets them away fast, high, and far, allowing plenty of time for the line to get down on the receiver. "Red" has also played an important part on the passing defense, and on more than one occasion has broken up a long accurate pass.

It is hard to pick out any one department in which Dearborn excels. He plays football in the same quiet, unspectacular manner which characterizes him in all of his activities. He is always in the play, but seldom noticed by the fans.

TWO THETA ALPHA MEN ON NEW HAMPSHIRE SQUAD

GEORGE MURRAY
New Hampshire '35

Next spring will see the passing from college of George "Ace" Murray, who for 3 years has held down a regular position at right guard on the New Hampshire varsity. The "Ace" is not a flashy player but is steady and dependable, carrying out his assignments with that neatness and precision which counts so much in line play.

George's graduation will be a great loss not only to the football team but to the house as well, as he is one of the best bull-sessioners of Theta Alpha.

Leslie Pike who was out for an end position last year has been shifted over to a tackle, and though he has not seen a great deal of action this year, will undoubtedly be regular material on Coach "Butch" Cowell's squad in the fall of '35.

LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

900 Cass Street,
Joliet, Illinois

December 1, 1934

DEAR ADELPHOI:

For the past two months I have received almost a steady stream of congratulations and pledges of co-operation. I have appreciated these, of course, but what is much more important and more gratifying is the fact that, almost without exception, this co-operation has actually been delivered.

This year's Convocation shows promise of being the finest ever held. At this writing, the plans, of course, are incomplete. But the Beta Alpha Adelphoi are making every effort to make it a thoroughly successful and enjoyable one at an exceedingly low cost.

Meals will be served at the chapter house, and the delegates and visitors will be housed there and at the nearby Phi Sigma Kappa house.

Several associate members have already indicated that they intend to be there, and a large group is expected. Adelphos Cassone of Delta Beta Associate Chapter is organizing a party from Allentown. The host chapter is looking forward to seeing the associates, but would appreciate it if those expecting to attend would notify either the Executive Secretary or Herbert F. Gale, Master of Beta Alpha, so that they will know how many to prepare for.

GEORGE W. BRAUN

Yours for a successful Convocation,
George W. Braun.

A T. U. O.'S VERSION OF THE STATE PARK MOVEMENT

VANANDA J. MEYL, I A (Penn State) '26

Assistant Landscape Architect, National Park Service, State Park Division, Washington, D. C.

When, through the conservation trend of Recovery, it was suggested to a bewildered people that they deliberately set about preserving those fundamental things God had given them and cease worrying over the losses of man-made trinkets, that effect was as if a strong man had risen up and spoken a great truth to an anxious throng.

The past does not reveal a time when the thought could have fallen on more fertile ground. The resources of the people were depleted. Their minds groped and their bodies were tired. The seven lean years were riveting into their brains the fact that "This is all I have. I must save it."

Those who had piled paper fortunes high and seen them swirl away in the wind cried out that there must be something more substantial than this. The artificial had given way and come crashing down upon them so they sought out the real.

This turning into the real, the substantial and the everlasting was a natural reaction. It took strong hold of the people and there was relief. It was the going back to fundamentals, the coming down to solid earth, that has always and will forever sweep into the slipstream of shattered illusions.

So it was there was an awakening to the facts of conservation. The Civilian Conservation Corps, a splendid army of youth and peace, put this awakening into action. Off the streets and out of the dull indifference of enforced idleness they came, and streamed into rural regions to save timber their forebears had slashed, hills they had torn apart, streams they had polluted and game they had shot down since Jamestown and Plymouth. Timber tracts are being improved and protected from fire and disease and destruction by man. Topography is saved from erosion and flood. Convenient acreage is cleared for camp grounds and picnic areas.

Under skilled and experienced Park Service supervisors, the Conservation Corps is constructing foot, horse and vehicle trails and bridges, simple shelters, picnic tables, outdoor fireplaces, log cabin communities, recreational lodges, places for swimming, boating and controlled fishing, and water and waste disposal systems.

With the appreciation of the fact that a country should be saved came the appreciation of the fact that it can be enjoyed. Places for the people to go into the hills and along the streams of the back-country. Places for them to go down to the good earth and be comforted by the abundance of peace and quiet and the magnificence of what came out of the beginning of all things.

So, the conservation movement took on a recreational trend. Not all Conservation Corps Companies were assigned to Forestry and Agriculture. Many went under the supervision of the National Park Service, particularly its emergency unit, the State Park Division.

This State Park Division, of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, with Civilian Conservation Corps labor and Emergency Conservation Work funds, was organized a few days after the Conservation Corps became a reality April 5, 1933. Reason for its establishment was the development of a nation-wide system of state parks, something never before attempted on such a scale.

The man chosen to direct this program was Conrad L. Wirth, Landscape Architect, a determined conservationist and Assistant Director of the National Park Service, in charge of the Branch of Planning. He surrounded himself with an energetic group of young men in the Interior Building in Washington, and set about to spread the nation with an organization to promote and carry out a plan that had lived in the minds of many an intelligent and far-seeing individual for years.

They represented the great National Park Service and its great and good founder, Stephen Tyng Mather. They cooperated with Robert Fechner, the quiet, deliberate labor authority named by President Roosevelt to direct all Emergency Conservation Work and be 'daddy' to the 275,000 boys between 18 and 25 and 25,000 World War veterans that make up the Conservation Corps.

In the first Emergency Conservation Work period there were 104 CCC camps assigned to State Parks in 26 states; in the second, 228 in 32 states; in the third, 268 camps in 41 states, and in the fourth, October 1934 through March 1935, there have been approved 296 camps for projects in 41 states. In addition, 55 of the 173 drought relief camps were placed on State Park projects in 13 Midwestern states.

EROSION CONTROL DAMS BUILT BY THE CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS

As a direct result of this movement nearly half a million acres have been acquired by the states through gift and purchase for State Parks and Forests. Five States—Virginia, West Virginia, South Carolina, Mississippi and New Mexico—have acquired their first park properties. Sixteen states—California, Oregon, Washington, Texas, Arkansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, Georgia, North Carolina, Maryland, New Hampshire, Kansas, Kentucky and Vermont—have acquired new parks or additions to parks.

The country was divided into five districts. Over each district is a District Officer. Under him are the Inspectors, one assigned to each half-dozen parks. This field organization is closely connected with the National Park Service in Washington and with Robert Fechner, Director of Emergency Conservation work.

Actual work in the parks is supervised by a camp superintendent and a group of foremen. Landscape architects, engineers, and men experienced in all types of construction make up the supervisory personnel.

While the Conservation Corps enrollees are not working they are under the supervision of the Army, which agency is responsible for maintenance and administration of the camps and the housing, feeding, clothing and paying of the Corps, but has no hand in the development programs.

When completed a park is left in the hands of the state in which it is located, to be maintained and administered by whatever agency that state selects. A State Park, according to the belief of the majority of Park Authorities, can be self-supporting if properly managed. Fees for overnights, weekends and vacations in the cabins, swimming, boating and fishing, and the returns from the concessions should help toward making this possible. In some places an admission is charged to the park proper, but this is a debatable subject.

There is little initial cost to the states. They acquire land which the State Park Division field inspectors consider worthwhile, and if a Conservation Corps company is available, the work begins.

Every effort is being made to keep forever true what Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes of Illinois wrote to President Roosevelt upon seeing a report of the first year of the State Park Conservation Work: "I doubt if any other branch of Emergency Conservation Work can bring results of more lasting benefits or of benefits that will be more widely felt among the whole American people.

"It is with keen pleasure I report to you of a movement that has met with conspicuous success."

DONALD V. HOCK APPOINTED LECTURER AT PENNSYLVANIA LAW SCHOOL

Donald V. Hock, Delta Beta, Muhlenberg Class of '32, was appointed this past summer auxiliary lecturer in "Speech Training" at the University of Pennsylvania Law School by Dean Herbert J. Goodrich.

DONALD V. HOCK

Mr. Hock, a third-year scholarship man at the school, will therefore render a series of eight lectures in "Public and Legal Speaking" to interested first-year law men. More than seventy-five men have enrolled for the course. These men represent more than twenty-five colleges in several states.

Hock's background for this position is a complete and varied one. At Catasauqua High School he was very active in debating, oratory and dramatics. At Muhlenberg he was an active member of the Varsity Debate Squad for four years, serving as Captain his last two years. He established the Freshman Debate Squad at 'Berg in his senior year and successfully coached it for two years. In his sophomore year he won for 'Berg the State Oratorical Championship, placing second in the oratorical finals. In his third year he won the Junior Oratorical Contest. He was also very active in dramatics, playing the leading role in a one-act play by Paul Green "In Aunt Mahaly's Cabin" with which vehicle 'Berg won several awards in various drama tournaments. He was six weeks in vaudeville and four months in stock.

For the past three years he has been head of the Department of Speech at the Lighthouse, a Philadelphia social institution, one of the largest of its kind in the East. It is interesting to note that his class last year was made up of thirty men ranging in age from sixteen to sixty-five, representing six different religions and twenty-eight different occupations.

Hock is also active as a public speaker. His brothers at Delta Beta still recall vividly the newspaper accounts of Hock's venture into the breadlines of New York City, when the young man slept in Central Park, in flop houses, in Tom Noonan's Chinatown Mission; stood in breadlines, participated in the August the First gathering of 15,000 Communists in Union Square; etc. The result was a lecture, "The Five-Day Diary of a Self-Made Breadliner," still in demand.

Last summer, in addition to spending some time in the office of his preceptor, the Hon. Ethan Allen Gearhart, Judge of the Orphans' Court of Lehigh County, Hock also saw fit to get in six weeks at Columbia pursuing courses in "Advanced Public Speaking for Teachers of Speech" in the Teachers College; and "Technique of Legal Argument," in the Law School.

ELMER LOUIS KAYSER BECOMES DEAN AT GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Announcement has recently been made of the promotion of Elmer Louis Kayser to the post of Dean of University Students at George Washington University.

Brother Kayser needs no introduction to readers of THE OMEGAN. He has contributed many articles of interest and inspiration to its pages. He is deeply concerned with the welfare of Eta Alpha chapter and the national fraternity, and has attended many Convocations.

He received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from George Washington and was an active member of the local fraternity which became Eta Alpha chapter. Following that, he attended Johns Hopkins and Columbia Universities. Columbia bestowed a Ph. D. degree upon him.

ELMER L. KAYSER

Since 1917 he has been a member of the faculty of George Washington. He was Secretary of the University from 1918 to 1929, Director of the Summer Session from 1925 to 1929, and Director of the Division of University and Extension Students from 1930 to 1934.

In his new position as Dean of University Students, Adelphos Kayser supervises the work of all students who are not candidates for degrees and all irregular students. He is also charged with the development of adult education projects and various co-operative undertakings of that nature.

WENDELL H. BAIN OUTSTANDING MAN IN GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES

Holding a full-time government position and attending college as well would not seem to leave much time or energy for college activities. However, such is the vigor and zeal of Wendell H. Bain, George Washington '35, that he has held more responsible positions simultaneously than many students have held in their entire college careers. In return for his devotion to these activities, honors of many kinds have been heaped upon him.

Devoting most of his extra-curricular efforts to the Cherry Tree, college annual, Bain rose from photography editor in 1930 and advertising manager in 1931 to business manager in 1932, a position which he still holds for the third year.

The result of his industry on the Cherry Tree has led to Bain's election to Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity, of which he is now president; Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, which he has served as vice-president; and Gate and Key, honorary interfraternity society. Journalistic activity also won him the presidency of the District of Columbia Press Conference, an office he held during the year 1932-33. During the same year, he was master of Eta Alpha chapter of T. U. O. His remaining fraternity affiliation is Delta Phi Epsilon, professional foreign service fraternity.

SECRETARY OF STATE CORDELL HULL RECEIVING HIS O Δ K
KEY FROM PRESIDENT WENDELL H. BAIN, FEBRUARY 16, 1934

As if these activities were not sufficient, he has given much of his efforts to dance promotion. For two years, he has been chairman of the Homecoming Ball and last year he was chairman of the social committee of a very successful Interfraternity Prom.

This is by no means a complete list of Bain's activities at the George Washington University, but it is little wonder that the University Hatchet says of him: "That he is deserving of these honors is indicated by the high esteem in which he is held by faculty and students alike and by the degree of intelligence and business acumen which has characterized all of his accomplishments."

'DEAN OF DEANS' MEMORY HONORED IN A. T. O. SERVICE

Dean Thomas Arkle Clark is Remembered by Twin Ceremonies at Church, Cemetery

In honor of one of their distinguished brothers, members of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity unveiled a bronze tablet on the headstone of the grave of the late Thomas Arkle Clark, America's first dean of men, at the memorial service in Woodlawn cemetery, at the University of Illinois, Sunday afternoon, November 4, 1934.

A memorial service was also held in the morning in the First Presbyterian church, Urbana, of which the late dean had been a member for many years. The sermon was given by the Rev. Dr. Paul R. Hickok, minister of the Forest Hill Presbyterian church, Newark, N. J., national chaplain of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

The power of an unseen man in an unseen world was exemplified in the life of Dean Clark, Dr. Hickok stated in his sermon. Dean Clark, the chaplain continued, has multiplied himself many times in the lives of other deans, and those people with whom he came in contact.

Dean Clark didn't care about building up a fortune, or a reputation, but he desired to build into the hearts of men and women, a spiritual emphasis. The progress of these men and women meant more to him than did any great personal wealth.

It was most appropriate that the services were held on the annual Dads' Day, an institution that owes its origination to the efforts and work of Dean Clark. Alpha Tau Omega members, many dads, and prominent fraternity leaders were among those at the services.

T. U. O. MAKES GOOD AT HARVARD

BY JOHN E. TAYLOR, H A '35

Announcement of the appointment of Roger Phillips Marquis as a student legal aid to Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School was recently released. He was also awarded a faculty scholarship. Eta Alpha chapter, for the whole fraternity, extends congratulations to one of her most promising members.

ROGER MARQUIS

Adelphos Marquis was graduated from Central High School in Washington in 1929. The following fall he matriculated at George Washington University and was pledged to T. U. O.

During his four years at George Washington, Marquis became identified with many outside activities, especially in the journalistic field. Not only were his grades consistently high throughout the four years, but his work on the Hatchet and the Cherry Tree was outstanding. He held the responsible position of circulation manager on the Hatchet, the university weekly, for the two school years of 1931-32 and 1932-33.

In 1931 Adelphos Marquis became affiliated with the business staff of the Cherry Tree the student year book.

Recognizing his abilities, especially in the scholastic line, the adelphoi elected him to the office of chaplain in 1931, hoping he might influence some of the poorer students to study. The next year he was made marshal, the second highest position the chapter can bestow. Coincident with this, he held the office of social chairman. Do we remember some of the dances he threw? We do. Marquis was also one of Eta Alpha's participants in the Interfraternity Debate of 1931. Although T. U. O.'s debaters went down to defeat that year, the team, led by Marquis, made two of the most entertaining debate speeches it has ever been our privilege to hear.

Among his hobbies are bridge and chess. He has never been seen playing chess, and his bridge game is such that Ely Culbertson need not look to his laurels, at present anyway.

In addition to these extra-curricular activities, Marquis was initiated into the honorary journalistic society, Pi Delta Epsilon, and was later made a member of Pi Gamma Mu.

After receiving an A.B. degree in 1933 from George Washington, Marquis entered the Harvard Law School. His energetic efforts in the past have not been without their rewards, but his recent successes may be said to furnish a fitting climax to a brilliant student career.

PRESERVE OUR JEWELRY FROM PIRACY

BY GEORGE W. BRAUN, Executive Secretary

Under the present Jewelry Code, it is unlawful for "any jeweler not serving the fraternity under contract to solicit, offer for sale or sell any jewelry, novelties or items bearing their insignia."

The official jeweler of Theta Upsilon Omega is Burr Patterson and Auld, and it is suggested that admission to the chapter houses be denied all other companies.

The reliable jewelers are all voluntarily obeying this clause of the code and supporting it, and it has the full support of the National Interfraternity Conference. So it is probable that anyone who attempts to sell you any such goods is a jewelry pirate.

Such pirates (so nicknamed because they manufacture jewelry of reduced specifications in order to sell at a lower price) have materially increased their forces, and are making strenuous efforts to display in all houses. This is an attempt to make a showing in order to convince the N. I. R. Administration that undergraduates do not want the protection of the clause in the code. To us, however, it offers a very effective way of protecting our name and insignia.

To date it has been difficult and expensive to prosecute any one selling our insignia to persons not members of T. U. O. Under this code, however, it is a very different story.

So let's get behind it, and support it by denying admission to the houses to any jeweler other than Burr Patt., and by refusing to buy from unauthorized salesmen.

CORNELL DEAN GIVES LIBRARY SUGGESTIONS

Dr. R. P. Shibley, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Cornell university, stressed the importance of fraternity libraries in a recent open letter to Greek organizations.

"Without the continual assistance of alumni few if any of the Cornell fraternities would long survive. Given this fund of alumni to be drawn on, it seems regrettable that the alumni's sense of responsibility has generally ceased with a more or less successful endeavor to keep the resident chapter out of growing debt, up in social and athletic prestige, on fairly friendly terms with the University Dean's office. An outsider thinks that, for instance, the alumni might create really good libraries in all fraternities. The libraries of seven to 10,000 volumes, advertised as an important feature of each residential house at Harvard, are no doubt out of the question here; but the wise expenditure of even $50 a year would soon build up an excellent collection of useful reference works with a generous admixture of classics which we all promise ourselves some day to read. Half as much more would pay for subscriptions to a half-dozen periodicals: a New York daily, two or three of the more literate American and English weeklies, two or three substantial monthly magazines or reviews. And while we are spending other people's money let's note that an imaginative alumnus might endow his house with a few subscriptions to the University concerts if he suspected that a gift of good phonograph records, good piano music, and good vocal scores would not be wasted."

Perhaps these ideals are too extravagant for most houses to consider and there is always the problem of finding a place to have a library.

Dean Shibley realizes this and declares that, "I turn at last with relief even to the commonplace conclusion that only the resident members themselves can bring to realization those possibilities for satisfactory living theoretically inherent in the fraternity system. I suppose we all agree that the possibilities are seldom realized now. Perhaps the current conception of a fraternity is pitched too low. Because the house-manager and steward are hard pressed to make ends meet and forced in turn to pass the pressure on to the other brethren, all are tempted except in sentimental and convivial moments, to think of their relation as primarily economic—a co-operative to secure shelter, food, some amenities, and some opportunities for amusement."

Dr. William M. Stewart

Dr. William M. Stewart, Westminster '99, a member of Lambda Alpha chapter of T. U. O., died in Grove City, Pennsylvania, on September 24, at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. B. Campbell. Death came following a short illness, which had necessitated his resignation as superintendent of schools, Etna, Pennsylvania.

Educated in the rural schools of Butler county and at old West Sunbury Academy, Dr. Stewart was graduated from Westminster in 1899 with the B. S. degree, winning highest honors. He received the A. M. degree in 1914, and was honored in June of this year with the honorary degree of Doctor of Pedagogy.

For 36 years he was a leader in the educational life of Western Pennsylvania. He became principal of the Kittanning High School in 1906; principal of the Slippery Rock High School in 1907, remaining there until 1909 when he became principal of the model school and superintendent of the Teacher Training Department at Slippery Rock State Normal School. Here he labored effectively for 14 years, going to the superintendency of the Etna schools in 1922.

Adelphos Stewart was a personal friend of Arch Master McGinness. They belonged to the same generation of Lambda Alpha T. U. O.'s. Through the Arch Master, the fraternity extended sympathy to Brother Stewart's surviving sisters.

DR. WILLIAM M. STEWART

Dr. A. A. Cober

The Reverend Alvin A. Cober, a member of the class of 1896 at Bucknell and father of Kenneth Cober, Z A '24, first Arch Editor of T. U. O., passed away on October 11 in Williamsport, Pennsylvania. Dr. Cober had been a Baptist minister for 55 years. He was awarded the degree of Doctor of Divinity by Bucknell in 1918. The fraternity extends its sympathies to Adelphos Cober upon the death of his father, who was well-known to many of the members.

Roger Milton Browning, BA '27

It is with regret that Beta Alpha chapter announces the death of Roger Milton Browning, a former member of the class of 1927 at Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Adelphos Browning died shortly after his car left the highway near Bridgeville, Pennsylvania, and crashed into a telephone pole early in the morning of June 16. He was returning from an employees' outing and apparently went to sleep while traveling along the highway.

Adelphos Browning was born in Norwich, Connecticut, March 23, 1906, and prepared for Worcester at Norwich Free Academy. After three years in the mechanical engineering course, he was forced to withdraw due to illness. While at Worcester his college activities included the positions of Junior editor of the Tech News and assistant manager of the football team. His main interest while at college was in wireless. He owned and operated his own wireless station and was an enthusiastic worker in the college wireless club. As a member of Beta Alpha he served on the scholarship, liason, and activities committees besides holding the Herald's position for one term.

After leaving Worcester Tech, Browning entered the employ of the Wickwire Spencer Steel Company of Worcester. Three years later he joined the American Steel and Wire Company, working in Cleveland and Worcester as a foreman. About a year later he took a similar position with the Universal Steel Company of Bridgeville, Pennsylvania. Just previous to his death he was advanced to the position of superintendent of the cold rolling process with the same company.

Adelphos Browning held an interest on several patents including that on a new steel fountain pen which will appear on the market inside of a year. He took an active interest in the solution of the recent strikes in the steel industry. The outing from which he was returning at the time of the accident was proposed to smooth over internal difficulties in the Universal Steel Company. Browning was the chairman of the committee in charge of the outing, and during the events included in the outing, he won the long-distance under-water swim.

The funeral services were conducted in Bridgeville. One thousand of his fellow workers and friends paid tribute to him, and the mill shut down two full days in his honor.

The president of his company wrote: "We had all become greatly attached to Roger, and believe he had wonderful prospects with this company. We considered him one of the brightest young men we had in our organization. He will be greatly missed in this community."

Although the schedule is still incomplete, our tennis representatives in interfraternity athletics, Richard Howes, '36, and Michael Rallis, '36, now are in a tie for second place. Out of nine scheduled matches they have completed five, winning four and losing one.

Floyd Hibbard, '35, Michael Rallis, '36, and Randolph Cresswell, '37, were initiated into the chapter on November 8.

Beta Alpha was well represented on Worcester's soccer team this year. Willy Hebel, '35, served as captain of the team and was assisted by Adelphoi Leech, Gurnham, Merriam, and Rallis.

Carl Bergstrom, '35, was a member of the varsity cross country team, and showed up very well in the early meets of the season. However he was unable to compete in the final meet of the season due to a fallen arch.

The house has a new collection of signs and posters this year, and we are all pleased with the variety.

After trying to make grass on our much-shaded lawn for the last few years, we decided to try something else and now have a fine collection of evergreens on both sides of the walk.

Gamma Alpha

Stevens Institute of Technology

The chapter house was the scene of intensive activity during the week preceeding the opening of school. All of the brothers were active in the redcoration of the house. Starting with the third floor, the rooms were repainted and the halls stained. Each room was decorated according to the temperment of its occupant, limited by the selection of paints available. Various stippling effects were tried with considerable success in a number of the rooms. The pledge room was notable in its decoration due to a striking use of a combination of mandarin red on black woodwork with light gray walls. Accessories, such as paddles, were decorated in keeping with the color scheme. As a result of the work of the brothers and the able direction of the steward, the house was put in good shape for the fall season.

Gamma Alpha entertained a number of members of the freshman class during the regular two-week rushing period which is customary at Stevens, and is pleased to announce the pledging of six men. These men are John Boyajean, '38, David Clayton, '38, Charles Dieckhoff, '38, Richard Goldrick, '38, William Herrmann, '38, and Haworth Hurt, '38. These men received the formal pledging ceremony on October 29.

Gamma Alpha stood above the fraternity average in the scholastic standings for last year which were recently released by the dean.

Hugh Mills, '36, has been elected pledge captain. He is continuing his efficient work as furnace man.

Arno W. Rinck, '28, has been recently appointed chapter adviser to Gamma Alpha.

Gamma Alpha was able to marshal her full strength in the interfraternity baseball series which was played at Stevens during last June. As the games were played with the soft indoor baseball, members of the varsity ball team were not excluded. The first game with Phi Sigma Kappa was a long hard-fought affair. Although scheduled for only seven innings, it was not until the eleventh inning that Gamma Alpha was able to break through when William Salvatori, '35, got up left-handed on a hunch and drove home a run to give T. U. O. a 1-0 victory. After this close contest the team romped through the remaining games in our league and emerged league champions. The other league, however, was unable to decide its winner due to postponements and it will be necessary to complete the series this fall.

The chapter gave a closed house party to welcome the new pledges after the annual Fall Show of the Stevens Dramatic Society. The evening started with an enjoyable performance of Dorothy Parker and Elmer Rice's comedy "Close Harmony." Dancing and refreshments quite completely filled the remainder of the program which, if one can judge by the comments, was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone attending.

Home coming brought out quite a crowd of alumni and friends. The Ohio game proved to be a thriller, especially since the "Fighting Illini" took them to town. The Alumni Association Executive Committee held a meeting in the chapter room and, among other things, decided that the window sash on the chapter house needed paint. They promised to take care of the matter.

Dad's Day was a great affair in spite of the weather. Slickers, old hats and old shoes were scarce that day. Practically everyone went to see the Illini beat the Army in a sea of mud and came back in the best of spirits, even though they were wet to the skin. The house smelled like a steam laundry for some time afterward. The number of alumni here for the game gave the house the appearance of a second homecoming.

The intramural softball team finished third in its division. The bowling team is still in the running. At the moment, a rifle team is being organized to enter the intramural rifle match. Last year a third-place cup was brought home by a team composed of Croxen, Berg, Douglass, Anderson and Fulton. Alelphos Anderson is the only veteran rifleman left this year, but the new material looks good. If Adelphoi Harnden and Harrington can get accustomed to drawing their sights on a bull's eye instead of a pheasant or a rabbit, we ought to bring in another cup for the mantel.

Speaking of rifles, the den of Harnden and Harrington is taking on the aspect of an arsenal. Between the two of them, they have collected four muzzle-loading rifles dating as far back as 1780, two dueling pistols, two revolvers, one target pistol, a Spanish Sabre (contributed to the collection by Dick Radl), a German cutlass, three sheath knives, four bullet molds, one powder horn, one powder flask, besides a supply of lead and powder. The collection is displayed on the walls and really gives the room a formidable appearance.

Harnden and Radle have gone in for photography in a big way. They built an outfit for making enlargements and a projection machine. They intend to try their hands at double exposure work. At present they are experimenting at making negatives from prints.

The Annual Pig Dinner was held the night of October 27th. Judging from the loosening of belts that took place, it was a success.

The Pledge Dance will be held on November 17th. A good orchestra has been engaged, so we look forward to an enjoyable evening.

Zeta Alpha

Bucknell University

The officers of Zeta Alpha are: Charles Stoeppler, '35, master; Lee Rohde, '36, marshal; Theodore Gerakares, '35, scribe; Harry Runyan, '35, recorder; Theodore Gerakares, herald.

The chapter house, looking fresh in its new gray coat, was a welcome sight to the members of Zeta Alpha. We all tendered congratulations to Stephen Koronski, '37, and Richard Selkirk, '35, who had toiled during the hot summer months.

We were not quite prepared for the introduction of the Fraternity Management Plan, introduced to take care of the financial situation of the house. The plan budgets every expense item, and does away with special assessments. Now that it has been in operation for several months, we are wholeheartedly in support of it.

After an intensive rushing campaign, we added five new members to T. U. O. The newcomers are: William Shuttlesworth, Russel Van Tuyl, John Wallace, John Meyer, all of '38; and Harold Motz, '36. These men caught the spirit of T. U. O. from the very start. They came out strong for the first dance of the year, held at the chapter house on October 27. Some fifty couples enjoyed the evening dancing to the tunes of Castle Nova's Band.

It was soon evident that the pledges would give new strength to our teams.

They have made a strong soccer team. Thus, T. U. O. has won its league; and is marking time for the playoffs. The team has yet to suffer a defeat. We have very good prospects for the basketball team. As for the cross-country run to be held November 5, the house puts its hopes on Gerard Donovan, '36, and Roger Ammon, '36, both of whom have scored high in previous years. T. U. O. will be fighting all year for the Big Cup, donated by the Athletic Association.

Particularly gratifying to us was the turnout for Homecoming Day, October 27, the occasion on which the alumni return to the campus. Twenty-five members of T. U. O. returned to their old haunts. The chapter house was filled to overflowing by the oldtimers. Needless to say, we were glad to see our old friends once more.

A not too pleasant aspect of our status is the fact that T. U. O. stood seventh in the fraternity scholastic rating, with an average of 74. This is not according to form; and it serves to indicate that we must raise our standing.

The university is rendering the house a unique service for a nominal charge. It is checking up on the addresses of those alumni of whom we have lost track. The addresses of many of these unknowns have been furnished. It is hoped that in the future we shall be able to keep a record of every man who is a member of T. U. O.

As THE OMEGAN goes to press, we are looking ahead with optimism. There is a strong feeling of loyalty for the house. The spirit is better than ever. A full and interesting year is expected.

Eta Alpha

George Washington University

Eta Alpha's golf team placed third in the interfraternity tournament held October 28, 1934. The team was composed of Pomeroy, Jacobsen, Vander-Zwart and Sinclair.

The tennis team was eliminated from the interfraternity tennis tournament in the second round. The tennis team was made up of Newland, Walstrom, Taylor and Cross, playing positions No. 1, 2, 3, and 4 respectively.

Arch Editor Martin E. Jansson has been living at the chapter house for the past few weeks while working in the city for the government.

For the second semester of 1933-34, Eta Alpha's average was eighth among thirteen fraternities at George Washington University.

Theta Alpha

University of New Hampshire

The intramural basketball season at the University of New Hampshire has reached its final stage. Two well-balanced teams are to play for the championship and one of these is our own T. U. O. band of basketball players. Their pennant chase was unmarred by a defeat, they having won all games by safe margins. Two victories in the finals and the basketball cup, emblematic of the college championship, will be in the T. U. O. trophy chest.

Under the watchful eye of Harry "Hank" West the boys have played "heads up" basketball. "Ed" Chodoski at center, "Bill" Robbins and "Red" Herlihy at the forward positions, and "Skip" Witter and Sullivan in the backcourt form a first-string combination which for passing and point-getting ability has not been surpassed for a long, long time in the annals of our intramural competition.

Besides the first team, there are a group of "shock troopers" to whom basketball is second nature. Morrill, Collins, and Wiitala make smoothly functioning guards, while Hosmer, Peyser, and Cramer can step into the forward berths and give admirable accounts of themselves.

In reviewing the games already played, one noticeable feature has been the teamwork. Individual honors have been pushed aside on numerous occasions by the boys who all realized that cooperation is the best policy.

It has been the custom of the University of New Hampshire for the various fraternities and sororities to present a short skit during the Blue Key "stunt night" on the evening preceding the Homecoming Day football game in order to arouse student interest and activity.

The brothers at the house, with the viewpoint in mind of winning another trophy, chose Adelphos John Giffin, one of the better known campus playwrights, to write an appropriate skit. Being a keen student of history, Giffin chose for his title "Ben Thompson's Will". In it he dramatized the various humorous incidents leading up to the actual founding of our college by Ben Thompson, an old cantankerous country gentleman.

The part of Ben was played by Adelphos Albert Weatherby, who portrayed the old gentleman's character so well that many of those present must have felt that there indeed was a fine actor. Giffin showed his remarkable versatility by taking the part of Ben's lawyer and gave a remarkable performance.

After the various stunts had been presented, it seemed just a matter of form for the judges to announce our skit as the best of the evening. This they did, and loud was the applause when Adelphos Horton proudly stepped up to the stage and accepted the beautiful loving cup as a token of T. U. O.'s supremacy in theatricals.

Touch football has met with as much enthusiasm this year as always and to date we have played two games.

Our first game was with Theta Chi, in which, sorry to say, we were soundly trounced. The opposition scored six times in the first period with well-executed spinners, reverses, and passes. The last periods were scoreless for both sides, although the goals were often threatened.

By the time of the second game, which was with Phi Mu Delta, we had worked out several plays and perfected our defense, which enabled us to emerge with a 26 to 6 victory.

In the remaining games we hope to do still more to eradicate the stain cast on our football ability by the first game.

Gamma Beta

University of California

Gamma Beta announces the pledging of Les Hawkins, Wayne Gregg, Edward McLees, Bernard Taylor, Jay Webb, Jack Keck, Robert Gibson, and William Mullins. Mock initiation was held for them on September 26, 27 and 28.

On September 16, a Pledge Dance was held at the chapter house. Radio dances are being held every two weeks on Saturday evenings, with a small fee for those attending. These dances are intended primarily as functions for the rushees. So far, a great deal of success has resulted from these dances.

Both old and new members were given an opportunity to meet the mothers at a Mothers' Tea held at the house on September 30.

Open houses have been held after all the football games, affording the members a chance to show their friends true T. U. O. hospitality.

The Mothers' Club sponsored a card party held at the house on October 27. Its main purpose was to raise funds for purchasing new dishes. The party was quite a success and everyone seemed to enjoy it.

An alumni party was held in Los Angeles on November 9 for the members of Gamma Beta who went south for the U. S. C.—California game.

The biggest dance of the year is the Big Game Dance, which was held this year on November 23 at the chapter house. Novel decorations, entertainment and refreshments were enjoyed.

Eta Beta

Alabama Polytechnic Institute

Eta Beta of Theta Upsilon Omega tied with the Xi chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho in last spring's Go-to-Church Contest. Each fraternity will be allowed to keep the cup one semester. Eta Beta at present has the cup and it adds a great deal to the trophy collection. Eta Beta, when a local, won the contest in the spring of 1929 and again in 1930.

The scholarship report for the year 1933-34 has been published. Eta Beta ranked seventh among fraternities for the year, with an average of 80.06. During the second semester, we ranked third in all fraternities and sororities with an average of 84.34, which was .88 below the leading fraternity.

Only four active members, A. L. Graves, '36, W. D. Smith, '35, H. Blair, '36, and R. M. Steere, '35, returned to Eta Beta this fall.

However, we are proud of a large list of pledges. They are: J. T. Atkinson, '37, E. J. Barnes, '38, E. B. Barnes, '38, N. C. Batson, '37, J. F. Brennon, '37, G. Black, '38, A. D. Curlee, '38, R. S. Duffel, '37, T. Green, '38, Lynn Hewitt, '38, J. Hilburn, '37, M. E. Hill, '38, E. B. Horton, '38, Noel Jackson, '36, Jack King, '38, L. G. Mayo, '38, J. T. Miller, '38, Charles Miller, '38, P. R. Owens, '38, J. L. Spiceland, '36, H. B. Terry, '37, J. D. Vickery, '38, and W. B. Welch, '38.

Eta Beta's annual fall dance in honor of the new pledges was held October 20

Alumni Notes

Beta Alpha

Warren R. Burns, '34, is now employed by the Carter Ink Company at Cambridge, Massachusetts. During the early fall he worked picking apples.

Henry Franklin, formerly of '34, stopped at the house the weekend of Armistice Day. He is still at Bowdoin College and is expected to achieve many honors during the coming swimming season.

Carl Rylander, '32, George Nicoletti, '33, and George Smith, '31, were recent visitors at the house.

Truman Sanderson, '31, has been staying at the house nearly every weekend since the college opened. On one of these occasions he provided some of the fellows with transportation to the Massachusetts State game.

Gamma Alpha

Jack Armstrong, '32, has been promoted to be assistant foreman for Spencer Kellogg and Sons, Inc., of Edgewater, New Jersey. His former position was mill repairman.

Rodney N. McDonough, '33, is working in the export department of the Edgewater plant of the Ford Company.

Delta Alpha

While the University of Illinois was entertaining Red Grange at the 1934 Homecoming, Delta Alpha chapter was entertaining its own member of Red's famous teams when Lou Slimmer returned to the house for the first time. It was like old times when we gathered around after dinner to go over the fine points of an Illinois victory as reviewed by an expert.

Lou is now director of athletics and head football coach at Proviso Township High School of Maywood, Illinois. The school has over 1800 boys in attendance and they play in real fast company. At this writing the 1934 team is undefeated but they have yet to meet Oak Park and Evanston.

The Proviso job is Slimmer's second. He first started coaching at Kewanee where he spent three years.

Old timers will recall that Lou put one over on all of us when he married Miss Byers, a student at Urbana High, the day before final exams in his junior year. At the time he was carrying 19 hours of work and he made the best grades he had ever made. The prospective second generation T. U. O.'s in Lou's family are Louis Frederick, 8, and John Paul, 5. Lou's home address is 1306 South 22nd Ave., Bellwood, Illinois.

Twenty-nine alumni turned out for Homecoming on October 13. At a meeting of the associate chapter, the following officers were elected: Fred Howe, president; M. S. McGuffin, secretary-treasurer; Don Hermes, R. G. Smith and Claude Davis, directors; M. H. Parres, corresponding secretary.

Jack McFarland has disposed of his newspaper out in Kansas and has purchased the Ludington Daily News of Ludington, Michigan.

G. K. Green, '33, is assisting the head of the Physics Department in research. Last year he taught Physics at Illinois.

Gordon C. Young is an officer with the C.C.C. unit stationed at Buffalo Park, Illinois, one of the newest of the state parks.

Roland B. Douglass is now connected with Proctor and Gamble in Chicago.

Epsilon Alpha

Neal B. Bowman, '25, is one of the ten Temple University faculty men mentioned in the recently published "America's Young Men". Adelphos Bowman's work in helping to improve and gain recognition for the Marketing Department of the School of Commerce was one of the important factors in the inclusion of his biography in the volume compiled by Durward Howes, former president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. The book contains 4182 biographies of men under 40.

Bowman was re-appointed by the Arch Master to serve as adviser to the active chapter of Epsilon Alpha.

Arthur T. McGonigle, '28, and W. Raymond McGonigle, E A '30, are operating the Bachman Pretzel Company of Reading, Pennsylvania. "Art", who lives in Wernersville, has charge of sales and distribution and Ray, who resides in Robesonia, has charge of the plant itself. Because of their nearness to Philadelphia, both have been following Pop Warner's unbeaten Temple eleven rather closely.

Marion W. Milliron, '32, one of the former Heralds, is a news editor on the Bradford (Pa.) New Era.

T. Donald Shires, '31, another journalist, is sports editor of the Cumberland (Md.) Evening News.

Robert Teel, '32, onetime editor of the Temple University News, is editor of the Lehigh Valley Times of Northampton, Pennsylvania.

Edgar E. Smith, '34, captain of Pop Warner's first team at Temple, assisted Heinie Miller with his St. Joseph College football squad this fall. Smith played under Miller for two years when the latter was head coach at Temple.

Of the class of '34, four members are back at Temple taking post graduate work. Raymond Groller and John H.

Jenny are English majors. Willard L. Jones is doing work for a master's degree in psychology, while Robert Numbers is doing extra law preparation in evening school.

Manton C. Spaulding, '34, is an assistant supervisor of the New York State physical education department.

William J. Jiles, '34, was recently transferred to the New Haven, Connecticut, offices of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Company.

Closer social contacts with the Active Chapter was the main issue discussed at the regular annual dinner meeting of the Associate Chapter of Epsilon Alpha held in the chapter house, 1915 N. Park Avenue, Philadelphia, November 10.

Officers for the coming year were also elected. John N. Danehower was elected president; Chester L. Cobb was re-elected secretary and Howard E. Morgan was elected recorder.

Proposals for future social affairs with the active chapter were turned over to a committee headed by President Danehower. The first affair was a joint smoker at the chapter house November 30.

Those present at the meeting included Curtis Bicker, '33, Raymond L. Burkley, '28, Stanton P. Carpenter, '23, Chester L. Cobb, '30, John N. Danehower, '22, T. Morrison Dickey, '32, Burdett S. Fuller, '31, George H. Huyette, '31, Fred L. Linck, '28, Lee A. Marsden, '33, John H. Jenny, '34, Howard E. Morgan, '28, Herman C. Mosch, '31, Howard D. Owen, '27, William A. Schrag, '29, J. Leroy Vosburg, '27 and David Watson, Jr., '32.

Zeta Alpha

Owen L. Saddler, '34, was one of the only two students from the entire eastern seaboard to win honors in the nation-wide intercollegiate poetry contest conducted by the Forum magazine last summer. His prize-winning poem was "Beethoven Symphony." Adelphos Saddler has been an active contributor to "Bucknell Verse," the college magazine of poetry. In 1930, he was honored when two of his poems appeared in Harper's "Anthology" for that year.

At the present time, Adelphos Saddler is the possessor of a teaching fellowship at Bucknell University. His classes in English hear much concerning poetry. We will not be surprised to hear that Saddler has chosen a poetical subject for his Master's thesis.

J. Robert Vastine, '28, of Shamokin, was notified early in September that he had passed the rigid Pennsylvania State Board examinations for the practice of medicine.

Norman Egel, '31, is in his last year at Rochester Medical School. Word comes from Jefferson Medical School that Howard Moser, '33, is making a good record. He has two more years before graduation.

Two of our alumni have jobs in Washington, D. C. Theodore Frack, '32, is teaching in the high school, while Aubrey Kemp, '34, has a job with the government.

John L. Mohr, '33, has a teaching fellowship at the University of Southern California.

It appears that our alumni are fond of California.

Thomas M. Little, '31, has been at Bucknell since his graduation, studying genetics. Now comes the good news that Brother Little has secured a job with the Burpee Seed Company. He will have charge of the plant-breeding department. Adelphos Little intends to be in Surf, California, by January 1 to start work.

Vincent W. McHaill, '28, has been reelected principal of the Mount Carmel high school.

Eta Alpha

Minturn M. Snider and his bride are at home at 5 Glen Street, Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Steele McGrew, '33, has taken over The Bowie Register, a weekly newspaper of Bowie, Maryland.

Louis E. Seibold is now convalescing at his home in Washington.

Theta Alpha

John Walstrom, '32, is studying under Milikan at the California Institute of Technology. His address is Athenaeum, 551 South Hill Avenue, Pasadena.

Theodore Weaver, '34, is selling Metropolitan Life Insurance in Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

Leon Glover, '23, is spending a fall and winter quarter at Iowa State University, where he is completing his residence requirement for his Ph. D.

Aldis Christy, '32, and Joseph Brown, '32, are foresters at the Deerfield and Goshen C.C.C. camps, respectively.

A. B. Hoag, '26, is selling insurance for the John Hancock Insurance Company in Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

Gordon Drew, '25, is the head of a dairy plant in Augusta, Maine.

Lambda Alpha

There was a large attendance at the weekly United Presbyterian ministers' meeting in Pittsburgh on October 22 to hear Arch Master S. W. McGinness give an able address on "The Cross Fitchee." The ministers were so well pleased with the Christian message presented by Brother McGinness that it was suggested humorously that he be taken into the fellowship of the ministers at once and that he be given the degree of doctor of divinity.

Gamma Beta

Raymond A. Gilmore, '30, has made a real name for himself in his chosen field, anthropology, and after completing his Alaskan trip and over a year's work in the Yosemite Valley, Ray received a scholarship to Harvard. Ray's present address is Harvard University, where he hopes to get his "Ph.D."

Tommy Bettencourt, '29, is working for the California State Fish and Game Commission, and is stationed at the hatchery at Lake Tahoe, California.

Wesley Lachman, '33, is living in San Francisco, and working at the furniture store there of the same name.

Charles E. Mulks, '31, is still working for the River Lines, but he has been transferred to Stockton, California.

"Swede" Holterman, '32, since completing his flying course in the army, is flying the air mail in northern California.

Delta Beta

H. E. Krooss, '34, of Brooklyn, contrary to popular opinion returned to the states and at present is taking graduate work at U. of P. R. C. Held, '34, is rooming with him at the same institution and is pursuing the Business Course.

Woodrow W. Kistler, '34, is, at present, working in the offices of C. A. Cassone, '23, and H. Creveling, '29, as a clerk, prior to his taking up the study of law.

Donald Mock, '31, has shifted his fellowship work to the University of Nebraska.

Guy Zimmerman, '30, has been promoted to the position of Manager of the American Small Loom Company, at Rosslyn, Virginia.

Elmer Hoffman, '30, has also been promoted to a managership, at Lancaster, of the Federal Transient Shelter.

James Heller, '31, has completed his medical work at the University of Louisville, having transferred from the University of South Dakota.

William Hausman, '32, has recently begun his study of medicine at the University of Buffalo.

Walter Wolfe, '28, has been transferred to Detroit by the General Electric Company, together with five other men for the purpose of rehabilitating a company subsidiary.

Curtis Frantz, '31, is the local district manager of the Citizens' Wholesale Supply Company and is giving the Delta Beta chapter a decent cut in the merchandise they purchase from him.

Charles Stoppe, '29, has returned to his teacher's desk at Oley, Pennsylvania, after spending the summer courtin' at Duke University, taking graduate work in Mathematics. That's his story!

Mervin Heller, '28, took psychiatry at Boston University last summer and returns to Crozier Baptist Seminary for his M. A. work.

Roy O. Bachman, '33, is now a travelling sales representative of the Hoover Vacuum Cleaner Company. For all official purposes he is located at Phoenixville, Pennsylvania.

Rev. Elton Angstadt celebrated his 5th ordination anniversary by holding special services in his parish, located at Pleasant Valley, Gilberts, Pennsylvania.

Malcolm Parker, '34, has changed his mind about Dental Work and is at present working at his home in Freehope, New Jersey.

Erich Stoeckel has accepted a teaching position at Metuchin, New Jersey.

Dr. Trexler will open a dental office in Macungie instead of Trexlertown, as he previously stated.

Willis B. Kuhns has purchased a farm near Kuhnsville and by the looks of things he is a tiller of the soil.

Earle D. White is now a very successful garage proprietor in Frackville.

Philip Sell, '34, is now connected with Hess Bros. department store in Allentown.

Denton Krieble, '30, is one of the local big shots in the S.E.R.B. Headquarters in Allentown. His job is to find out case history on all the delinquents. At present he is able to speak fluently five languages and 8 dialects including the profane.

The Alumni Chapter of Delta Beta held a meeting at the chapter house on October 27, and the majority of the alumni who could attend were present. After the meeting the group attended the Gettysburg-Muhlenberg football game and watched their alma mater go down to a defeat. That, however, did not dampen their ardor and after a round of handshaking and backslapping the group went out in a body to celebrate old times. The active chapter can feel very proud of its alumni. They have its interests at heart as can be seen from the excellent work of C. A. Cassone, the chapter advisor, in the proficient managing of the commissary.

Eta Beta

B. W. Appleton, '34, is assistant County Agent in Etowah County, with headquarters at Gadsden, Alabama.

E. A. Terry, '27, spent a day visiting the chapter on October 2. Brother Terry is located at Montgomery, Alabama, with the Cotton Co-operative.

H. M. Cottier, '29, has been transferred from New York City to Eagle Pass, Texas, to do inspection work on the Mexican border. Adelphos Cottier is a junior plant quarantine inspector and has been located in New York City for the last four years.

B. W. Appleton, '34, and A. J. Gildehous attended the homecoming game on September 29.

Claude Jones, '34, and A. A. Taylor, '34, were down for the fall dance on October 20.

in the Student Recreation Hall. The hall was decorated with blue and gold streamers on the ceiling, the T. U. O. emblem lighting up one end of the hall, and a subdued lighting effect secured by crepe paper coverings for the ceiling lights. An original touch was added by a large back drop designed and painted by Adelphoi Graves, '36, Hicks, '33, McCord, '33, and Owens, '38.

Under the direction of "Coach" Lynn Hewitt and his able assistant, Gordon Black, Eta Beta is hoping to go places in the coming interfraternity touch football tournament.

Theta Beta

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute

Theta Beta lost five men by graduation last June. However, eight sophomores have been initiated into the house. We have been fortunate in pledging four new men who are at Rensselaer on scholarships.

The house held a dance after the annual football game with Union. Due to the failure of the orchestra to appear, the dance was held at the Club Edgewood. The adelphoi were not daunted, however, and a good time was had by all.

Theta Beta finished ninth in interfraternity competition last year.

The members of the chapter are all looking forward to the Post Prom, which will be held at the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Hendrick Hudson.

Since our return in the fall, the house has been given some touching up where it was deemed necessary.

Personal Mention

Beta Alpha

We very much regret that Robert Bruce, Frederick Cole, Thomas Frary, and Raymond Schuh were unable to return to Tech this year, but wish them much success in their present undertakings. Adelphos Bruce had a job during the summer as an actor with a stock company, and decided to continue working along this line. If his present plans are carried through, however, he will be back with us next year. Adelphos Cole is working at the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Company in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and in his frequent visits to the house assures us that he is very much satisfied with his position. As was previously announced in this column, Adelphos Frary is a student worker in the Nashua Manufacturing Company in Nashua, New Hampshire. Adelphos Schuh is planning to return in February, but at the present time is working as timekeeper for a construction company in Westboro.

Leonard Humphrey and Richard Merriam have again been elected to serve as officers in the class of 1935. Humphrey was elected to the position of historian for the fourth consecutive year. Adelphos Merriam is now serving his third year as class treasurer.

Humphrey and Merriam acted as officials in the annual Freshman-Sophomore paddle rush held November 10. All the available sophomores in the chapter took part, and in more than one instance were the receivers of many sharp blows. The freshmen were the victors by six paddles.

Richard Howes, '36, has been elected alternate to the Interfraternity Council to fill the vacancy left by Adelphos Bruce. Clinton Leech, '36, continues to serve as the regular delegate.

Perry P. Clark, '36, has been elected to the business department of the Tech News to fill the vacancy left by Thomas Frary.

Gamma Alpha

William Salvatori, '35 has led the Stevens Soccer team most successfully. The team was undefeated. In his position as fullback, Adelphos Salvatori has been important in turning back the opponents' offense and steadying his own team.

Arthur E. Reichard, '35, master of Gamma Alpha, is another important member of the undefeated soccer team. His position is right wing, and his ability to pass the opposing full backs and cross the ball over in front of the goal has resulted in many scores for Stevens. He scored in the game with R. P. I. but his favorite spot seems to be the crossbar, which seems to have some attraction for his boots. Adelphos Reichard was honored on the recent Senior trip of the class of 1935 when he was elected to Khoda, the honorary senior society at Stevens. The initiation took place at a banquet at the Hotel Statler in Cleveland, Ohio. Reichard was also elected to the vice-presidency of his class this fall.

Thomas J. Tarzy, '35, plays inside right on the soccer team. He is especially noted for his ability to come out of a fracas with the ball in his possession.

Arthur E. Blirer, '35, was elected secretary of the senior class. His ability along this line has been shown in the fraternity, where he held the position of Herald last year and now fulfills the duties of Scribe.

Daniel F. Hoth, '35, continuing in his capacity of Sound Technician of the Stevens Dramatic Society, had charge of the sound which was used in "Close Harmony", the fall production of the society.

Walter E. Carbone, '35, as president, has been active training and supervising the rifle team. The schedule of matches for this season includes shoots with many metropolitan colleges.

Horace G. Oliver, Jr., '35, was initiated into Tau Beta Pi, the national honorary engineering fraternity, on Wednesday October 10.

Pledge Stephen Baksa, '36, has been an important factor in the triumph of the Junior Class football team this fall. Playing at halfback, his bullet passes were responsible for the touchdown and point after touchdown which beat the Senior class team by the score of 7-6, and won the interclass series for his class.

Pledge Mathew H. Bilyk, '36, has been assistant manager of the soccer team.

Arthur C. Winter, '34, has obtained a job as radio operator on the Oriente, the sister ship of the ill-fated Morro Castle.

Horace G. Oliver, Jr., '35, gave the address of welcome at the fall convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, held in New York City on November 16 and 17. The affair was jointly sponsored by Stevens and the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

Delta Alpha

Art Douglas, '37, is learning to play polo.

Al Henning, '37, is sophomore manager on the Illio staff and is an active member of the Accountancy Club.

Dick Radl, '35, and MacLean are busy with dance band work. MacLean plays a sax in a local dance band, and is kept rather busy with house dances. Radl plays a string bass and does a bit of singing with Dick Cisne's Band, which appears regularly at Bradley's. The band recently played a two-day engagement in Ciincinnati and broadcast both nights over WLW. During the past summer, Dick played his way to a six weeks' tour of Europe, and next summer he is booked to go to the Orient.

Konopasek, '35, and MacLean, '36, are members of the Illinois Football Band.

Epsilon Alpha

Recognition as an outstanding campus power in undergraduate activities at Temple University is being retained by T. U. O.. As in the past, Epsilon Alpha men have succeeded this year to most of the major offices in student affairs.

The highest political office is that of president of Student Commission, with Ferman H. McFerran holding that position this term. Serving on the Commission with him are Wilson C. Hamor, president of the senior class, and James C. Baker, president of the sophomore class.

Adelphos McFerran, who is Master of Epsilon Alpha, is also senior cheerleader, varsity track manager and a cabinet member of the Y. M. C. A.

Adelphos Hamor, Recorder of Epsilon Alpha, is also a Y. M. C. A. cabinet member and a Blue Key wearer.

As president of Blue Key National Honorary Society, Woodrow Wilson is influential in campus politics. He is also varsity football manager, a Y. M. C. A. cabinet member and an assistant business manager of The News.

Charles T. Shane, who is marshal of the chapter, is president of the Men's Glee Club. His other positions are a junior cheerleader, a member of Blue Key, and a Y. M. C. A. cabinet member.

Along with these presidents and heads of campus organizations are several secretaries wearing the T. U. O. badge. Harold H. Fowler holds one of the most important, that of secretary of the Interfraternity Council, to which he is Epsilon Alpha's senior representative.

J. Paul Faust, who is scribe of Epsilon Alpha, is secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and a student page in the University library. H. Calvin Terry, who is junior representative to Interfraternity Council, is secretary of the Teachers College Commercial Education Club.

Upholding the T. U. O. standards on the staff of The Temple University News are Malcolm L. Webb and Samuel L. Tucker, Jr., both ranking news editors. Richard P. Barr is business manager of this year's Student Handbook, which is the best turned out since organized with the undergraduate publications four years ago. He is also business manager for The Owl, Temple's humor magazine.

Zeta Alpha

A goodly portion of the Bucknell Men's Glee Club is made up of T. U. O.'s. The singers are: Lee Rhode, '36, Roger Ammon, '36, Stephen Koronski, '37, Harry Heberd, '37, Gerald Donovan, '36, Willard Leavitt, '37, and Pledges William Shuttlesworth, '38, John Wallace, '38, Russel Van Tuyl, '38, William Clemens, '37, and Harold Motz, '36.

Thomas Fagley, '35, was for the sixth consecutive time on the Honor Roll, Pledge William Clemens, '37, has made the Honor Roll on two successive occasions.

The football managership is well cared for by Lee Rhode, '36. He is one of a long line of T. U. O.'s who have held this job. Willard Leavitt, '37, is his assistant.

Roger Ammon, '36, worked all summer in a munitions factory in New Jersey. Lucky for him, he was not on the premises when an explosion occurred taking a toll of one dead and several injured. Not daunted in the least, Ammon plans to spend next summer amid the same surroundings.

On September 21, at the Convocation Exercises, Theodore Gerakares, '35, received a Debate prize. When not debating, Adelphos Gerakares holds down the position of left halfback on the varsity soccer squad. He was recently elected president of Sigma Tau Delta, the honorary English fraternity.

Eta Alpha

John A. Walstrom, '36, was initiated on October 30 into Gate and Key honor society.

James G. Cross, '34, is again manager of the university rifle team, and also its captain.

John E. Taylor has been appointed an assistant on the business staff of the Cherry Tree.

Theta Alpha

Alden Winn, '37, has won a one-hundred-dollar scholarship for getting highest marks under the handicap of earning part of his college expenses.

William Hancock, '35, has been appointed to represent the Education Department on the Dean's Advisory Council.

Marston Fenwick, '36, was recently initiated into Phi Sigma, the national honorary biological society.

George Horton, '36, Morris Herlihy, '36, and John Maddock, '36, have recently been promoted to be Sergeants in the R. O. T. C. George Murry, '35, has been promoted to be a Second Lieutenant.

Gamma Beta

Jack A. Yates, '35, made quite a name for himself this summer when California won the Intercollegiate crew races in the East. Jack was first string, and certainly deserves plenty of credit. He has been patiently working for three years now and has finally made the top. California's crew motto has since become "On to Berlin in 1936." And, from recent showings of the crew, we'll be there.

Jack Martin, '35, and Bedford Montgomery, '37, deserve plenty of credit for the dance given at the chapter house on Saturday, September 15 in honor of our new pledges. Reports from the alumni tend to show that it was the best dance ever given for any of the pledges.

John H. Taylor, '35, our new master, believes in doing things in a big way. Not only is Taylor master, but also president of the College Y. M. C. A., and as a sideline he is co-editor of Brass Tacks, a new publication on the campus.

Delta Beta

J. R. Brockoff was appointed as Assistant Coach of Freshman Debating under the direction of the department of English.

L. J. Sandt was finally successful in making the varsity football team, but at present is still being saved.

D. T. Smith returned from a musical tour of Europe and proceeded to make a berth for himself in the roster of musicians in and around Allentown. Some of the other adelphoi were successful in landing jobs with other orchestras.

The rush committee, composed of Master L. K. Ziegler, D. T. Smith and J. S. Kieper, were very successful in the last rush season, getting eleven pledges and repledging five men.

Eta Beta

G. R. Meadows, '35 is working at the Tiger Drug Store preparatory to completing his college work next semester.

Pledges F. S. Duffel and N. C. Batson have been pledged to Alpha Psi, national honorary veterinary medicine fraternity.

R. M. Steere, '35, has been elected as president of the Auburn branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Jack King, '38, was successful in a hotly contested campaign for treasurer of the freshman class. King has entered into campus activities in a big way for a first year man, being manager of the freshman football team also.

Theta Beta

Adelphos Cox, '37, is a member of the Institute Band, and Adelphos Hock, '36, has been appointed to the Transit board of 1936.

Fraternal and Collegiate

The University of Illinois reports an increase in registration of 751 over that of November 1, 1933. The increase brought the total enrollment to 10,747.

The trend toward mergers in fraternity chapters for economic reasons has caused some complications at the University of Illinois, where Alpha Sigma Phi has proposed to unite with Beta Psi. The active members of Beta Psi voted to leave their house, and make an agreement with Alpha Sigma Psi to move into its house. The University Senate committee on student affairs, however, ruled that the Beta Psi men could not be initiated into Alpha Sigma Psi and would not be allowed to live there, so after a day of joint occupancy of the house, the Beta Psis moved out. The committee on student affairs modified its ruling later to permit Alpha Sigma Psi to "open its dining room to non-members." It was felt that this permission would help to smooth out the financial difficulties of both houses. National officers of both fraternities were much concerned over the affair, and a joint conference was called by the Dean of Men at the University.

Apparently never having heard of the depression, Bucknell University, under the leadership of President Homer P. Rainey, is planning a most ambitious Centennial Program. The drive was set definitely under way at the annual Homecoming Day Alumni Dinner. It has for its goal the addition of $6,000,000 in new assets to the University by the time of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of Bucknell in 1946. Included in the program will be the rebuilding of Old Main, the institution of a campaign to increase Bucknell's enrollment for next year, the establishment of a bequest committee "to encourage every friend of Bucknell to remember Bucknell in his or her will", and the acquisition of new friends of Bucknell in non-alumni groups.

A new racket has reared its ugly head in fraternity chapter houses. Representing himself as a booking agent for well-known orchestras, a suave young man has absconded with down payments of ten per cent extracted upon the signing of fake contracts for music at dances. Of course, when approached later concerning the date, the orchestra leader knew nothing about it.

A step which may have far-reaching consequences was taken this fall by the University of New Hampshire, when four students were excused from required participation in military drill in the R. O. T. C. unit for reasons of "conscientious objection". The requirement for military training dates back to the creation of the land-grant colleges, of which the University of New Hampshire is one. Military training as a required subject was part of the agreement under which the federal government contributed to the establishment of these land-grant colleges and has since continued to contribute funds. Occasionally, during the years, there is a flare-up of protest in one or another of these colleges over the military requirement.
